

Incoming Student Room Selection

Before Room Selection begins, be sure to:

Check to see if you have an accepted roommate in the Housing Portal here:

<https://uwrf.starrezhousing.com/StarRezPortalX/>

The “Roommate Search” page shown here will display your accepted roommate, if you have one.

If you have an accepted roommate: Only one roommate will log in and select a room - they will assign both themselves and their roommate to beds in the room (see screenshot under “Step 3” in the following instructions).

No mutually accepted roommate? No worries! See the screen shot under “Step 2” in the following instructions showing how to look at a potential roommate’s profile before you put yourself into a room.

Review Hall Details:

Have a list of 2 or 3 buildings where you are interested in living, as your first choice could be filled when your timeslot opens. Most available first year beds will be in first year halls.

Hall and Wing Configurations:

https://students.uwrf.edu/sites/default/files/2025-05/2025-26RoomConfigs_HallInfo_Gender_Bathrooms.pdf

Communities:

Note that there was a lottery that already occurred for themed communities, and winners were notified. There may still be empty beds available in some communities due to students declining their assigned community.

View the location of communities in halls by using the Hall and Wing Configurations link above. If empty beds are available there when you choose a room, then any student may reserve those beds regardless of major.

Communities Requiring Agreements: The following communities require that students add the community as a preference on the “Communities” page in the Portal - then agree to its agreement - before they may view empty beds in those communities.

1. Gender Inclusive Community
2. Substance Free Community
3. Gaming & Esports Community
